

5 REASONS SCHOOL DISTRICTS MUST REQUIRE COORDINATED FACILITY DOCUMENTATION

1 You already pay for meticulous details about your facilities
 Dollars are spent on a variety of decisions during design and construction. Capture these details in a useful format for the long haul.

2 The construction industry is behind the technology curve
 Construction teams have a definite technology gap - many adopt in a piecemeal fashion.

64%
of contractors

73%
of owners

ARE TECHNOLOGY FOLLOWERS<sup>2</sup>

Setting a requirement determines how your facility data is received.

3 One day per week is wasted searching for information
 20% of business time is lost every week due to lack of organization.<sup>2</sup> Requiring joint documentation will make each team more effective.

5 Your assets are on the line
 Beginning your projects with the end in mind...
 • organizes each phase of the work
 • divides the documentation needs among multiple players
 • drives you to meet the end goal – efficient maintenance of your largest assets.

4 Recruiting the next generation matters
 Technology impacts your ability to attract new employees. Sifting through multiple binders, unorganized plan rooms or digital archives isn't enticing.

CONTACT US TODAY TO SCHEDULE A DEMO
demo@buildingvault.com

1. KPMG Global Construction Survey 2016 2. Cottrill Research & Search Your Cloud survey on worker's time 3. PWC Global – Workforce of the Future